

BRIDGES TO GROWTH CUSTOMERS:

The bulk of the toy lending library collection at Bridges to Growth will be transferred to the Georgetown Public Library by the end of May, 2010. In order to have time to inventory the collection and get it ready for transfer, we will not be lending toys after April 14. The parent reference books and some infant-toddler toys will still be available for borrowing after we move to our new location around the first of June. Our new address at that time will be 805 W. University Avenue, on the corner of Scenic Drive and W. University Avenue. We will not be lending any materials from April 15 until we are settled in our new location in June.
